

Open Design Engine - Feature # 156: Change "Issues" to "Tickets"

Status:	New	Priority:	Normal
Author:	Christopher Sigman	Category:
Created:	08/03/2013	Assignee:
Updated:	08/08/2013	Due date:
Subject:	Change "Issues" to "Tickets"
Description
It seems incorrect for the "Issues" tab to be called issues, and much more correct to call it "Tickets". One of the primary reasons for this is that what information is captured under that module are not all issues: features for example are not (always) issues, but nice-to-have's and things of a nature other than an issue. Another reason is that "Issue" has a negative connotation with it. Several places will need to be changed to reflect the update in nomenclature, and this should all be able to be accomplished by updating the .yaml files. Investigation should be done though into how one might change the labels through a plugin as opposed to the .yaml files.

History

08/03/2013 05:07 pm - Jeremy Wright

Will this cause any issues with plugins that expect to see an "Issues" module?

08/08/2013 03:33 pm - Christopher Sigman

No. Since we'll only be changing the labels (which are specific to the languages like English or Italian), the code itself won't be affected.